

Contents

More than space: Rethinking temporality in Island Studies - Tomislav Oroz	1-19
Comprehending aquapelagic complexity: Maritime practice and socio-economic-ecological relations in Luang, Indonesia - Efilina Kissiya, Nur Aida Kubangun, Gábor Biczó &amp; Philip Hayward	20-42
Negotiating hierarchies at sea: Patron-client relations and social mobility among Tegal fishers - Asnika Putri Simanjuntak &amp; Alltop Amri Ya Habib	43-51
Remoteness as resource: Ethnographic perspectives on mobility and economic resilience in Sebesi Island, Indonesia - Devi Riskianingrum, Vera Budi Lestari Sihotang &amp; Fenky Marsandi	52-68
Taking stock on micronationality and islands - Vincent Bicudo de Castro	69-79
Mapping the communicative ecology of Naha's Machigwā - Evangelia Papoutsaki, Ayano Ginoza &amp; Junko Konishi	80-106
From rebirth in the Tigris River to documentation of the Iraqi Marshes - Hilla Peled-Shapira	107-119
Navigating caste in colonial Kerala - Adeep Hussain &amp; Saranya S.	120-136
Islandness and the resilience of vernacular religious rituals - Dora Dunatov, Iva Niemčić &amp; Marina Blagaić	137-161
For an archipelagic ontology: Oceanic care and non-controlling responsibility in Monique Roffey's Archipelago - Nick T.C. Lu	162-179
Revisiting post-violence islands in literary studies - Maria Ulfa, Bayu Kristianto and Bastian Zulyeno	180-199
Island, Mainland and Third Space: Rethinking spatial community and Indigenous identity in Monique Roffey's To Shape a Dragon's Breath (2023) - Wang Xiteng and Liang Huan	200-218
A walk around Ngayirr Ngurambang (Sacred Country) - Jessica Mclean and Aleshia Lonsdale	219-230